(Commercial Circular No. 69 of 2006)

Sub.: Introduction of computer/machine generated parking slips at railway stations for car parking.

With a view to improve the functioning of vehicle parking stands at railway stations and to bring transparency in realization of parking charges, computerised/machine generated parking slips should be introduced for parking of cars at major railway stations. Efforts should be made to cover all category 'A' stations at least.

At those stations where there are proper entry and exit gates in the parking lots, computerised parking facility may be introduced i.e. at the entry gate. The computerised parking slips indicating the date and time of parking, vehicle number and parking rates in different slabs should be issued and money should be collected at the exit gate at the time of departure.

At those stations where there are no proper entry and exit gates, the parking contractor may issue parking slips through the hand held terminals which should show the date and time of parking, vehicle number and parking rates in different slabs.

The above procedure may be adopted for fresh contracts and a suitable addition may be incorporated in the Specimen Agreement already circulated to all Zonal Railways.
